Why Become A Sponsor?

SICC established conference branding provides an excellent platform for academics and researchers to network with corporate/industry players in the field of chemistry. Through the conference, sponsors would be able to reach to their target audience and create brand awareness.

✓ Extensive Promotion

Announcements on SICC-10 will be made to its proprietary database comprising academics and researchers (worldwide) in the field of chemistry. All potential attendees are directed to the conference website to get information on the conference, submit their research paper, register for the conference, check programme updates as the conference progresses.

Sponsors will be featured on the website and hyperlinks to sponsors' corporate websites will certainly help to increase brand awareness amongst the target audience.

✓ Onsite Promotion:

Should you be taking up an exhibition booth space at the conference, you can display and showcase your product and make direct sales pitch to the attendees. Nothing beats hands-on-trial of the product and the face-to-face interaction with the sales personnel representing the company. Based on past conference records, many sales interests were initiated at the conference and materialised post-conference.

✓ Self-Branding:

Sponsors are issued complimentary conference passes for admission to the conference sessions, social events and activities. This further provides opportunities to network, socialize and foster business relationship with the experts and decision-makers.

✓ Commitment:

The growth of the Singapore Chemistry industry is also dependent on the financial support of our industrial partners. As a sponsor or an exhibitor at SICC-10 you can demonstrate your on-going commitment to the Chemistry Community here in Singapore.
